Acelerar

acelerar

```
void acelerar(reunion &r, int prof, int freq) {
         reunion rV = r;
                                                                                                                      c_1
                                                                                                                               1
         for (int i = 0; i < rV.size(); i++) {</pre>
                                                                                                                             m+1
                                                                                                                      c_2
              int j = 1;
while (j < rV[i].first.size()) {
                                                                                                                      c_3
                                                                                                                               m \frac{\frac{m \cdot n}{2} + 1}{\frac{\frac{m \cdot n}{2}}{2}}
                   r[i].first[(j - 1) / 2] = rV[i].first[j];
 6
                                                                                                                      c_5
              int a = j / 2;
                                                                                                                               1
10
                                                                                                                           2 \cdot \frac{\frac{m \cdot n}{2}}{\frac{m \cdot n}{2}} + 2
              for (int q = 0; q < rV[i].first.size() - a; q++) { 11
                                                                                                                      c_8
                    r[i].first.pop_back();
12
                                                                                                                      c_9
13
        }
14
15 }
```

- $\blacksquare$  m = |r|
- n = |r[0].first|
- $\blacksquare \ T_{acelerar}(m,n) = c_1 + c_2 \cdot (m+1) + c_3 \cdot m + c_4 \cdot \frac{m \cdot n}{2} + c_5 \cdot \frac{m \cdot n}{2} + c_6 \cdot \frac{m \cdot n}{2} + c_7 \cdot (m \cdot n) + c_8 \cdot (m \cdot n + 2) + c_9 \cdot \frac{m \cdot n}{2}$
- $\blacksquare T_{acelerar}(m,n) \in O(m \cdot n)$